ALL NATIONS AGREE TO REDUCE ARMAMENTS

Washington, Nov. 15.—Formally accepting "in principle and spirit" the American proposals for reducing and limiting naval armaments, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan today pledged their adherence and began discussions of details.

Japan wants more than the sixty per cent as compared to the United States and Great Britain, which the original proposal would allow her.

France and Italy want to be taken into consideration at the outset, and not wait for disposal of the question as it affects the Big Three. Moreover, both France and Italy feel that they should be permitted to increase rather than decrease their sea forces to bring them up to a figure comparable with what is being allowed the others.

Great Britain, as previously outlined, wants the replacement program spread over a period of years rather than taken up at the end of a ten year holiday and she wants further reduction and definite limitations on submarines.

After a session of little more than an hour, the conference after hearing addresses of general acceptance by Arthur J. Balfour, for the British; Baron Admiral Kato for Japan; Senator Schanzer for Italy, and Premier Briand for France, adjourned to meet again on the call of Secretary Hughes, and the newly appointed committee on naval armament went into secret session.

Secretary of State Hughes' plan is outlined in the following:

First. That all capital-ship building programs, either actual or projected, should be abandoned.

Second. That further reduction should be made through the scrapping of certain of the other ships.

PRESIDENT HARDING

Whose history making speech to the peace delegates was so ably followed by Secretary of State Hughes' plan for a 10-year naval holiday has been accepted by all nations and is thought to be the beginning of total disarmament.

Third. That in general regard should be had to the existing naval strength of the Powers concerned.

Fourth. That the capital-ship tonnage should be used as the measurement of strength for navies and a proportionate allowance of auxiliary combatant craft prescribed.

Briefly the American plan is:

That there immediately be destroyed by the navies of the three great Powers sixty-six capital fighting ships and a total tonnage of 1,878,043 tons.

Within three months after making an agreement the navies would consist of designated and agreed upon ships as follows:

United States, eighteen; Great Britain, twenty-two; Japan, ten.

In tons this would be: United States, 500,650; Great Britain, 604,450; Japan, 299,700.

ARMISTICE DAY ONE OF BOTH SOLEMNITY AND CELEBRATION

As if nature itself mourned and shed tears for the dead of the World War, which congealed into snow to blanket the graves of the fallen, the opening of the armistice was commemorated last Friday [illegible] here, under inclement skies.

At the stroke of 12 o'clock from the Courthouse the various church bells tolled out, and for prayers for the departed soldiers. Few persons were on the streets at the time because of the rain, and there was a air of dismal solemnity in the air.

Persons bowed their heads for two minutes during the tolling of the bells, business stopped everywhere, and in the school the pupils rose and prayed silently.

The holiday was replete with a [illegible] this afternoon in church [illegible] and by the public, a parade in the [illegible] of [illegible] of those wars, the band, the women's auxiliary, Buchhalt Post, the Scouts, school children, march of entertainment at the Lyceum and speeches at 2:00 o'clock, football game between Bradford High School and Smethport High School in which the latter was victorious by the score of 25 to 0; banquet for ex-service men at 6:30 o'clock; dance at 9:00 o'clock.

The feature of the day's celebration was the afternoon entertainment at the Lyceum with Judge Thomas Dowd, of Salamanca, who made a very eloquent and entertaining address, as the principal speaker, decrying the awful expense of building battleships for future slaughter while the soldiers' bonus is being kept from them because of an apparent lack of funds in the nation's coffers, the jurist stated that he would not give the most insignificant church or school house for the biggest battleship on earth.

"I would advise," he said, "that all of you ex-service men purchase three postcards and send one to each of your two United States Senators, and to your Congressman, bearing the message, "Give us our bonus, or lose your job."

He also stated that if the government would stop building battleships and spending money otherwise foolishly the soldiers' bonus could then be paid.

Some persons wonder what would become of America if we discontinued our armament. But when I see all our school children daily

PAUL GREEN BADLY HURT

Paul Green, of Batavia, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Green, of Smethport, sustained serious injuries, and a companion was instantly killed in an auto accident last Thursday at Auburn, N. Y.

Mr. Green and his friend were riding back toward Batavia following a hunting trip in the Adirondack Mountains.

At a railroad crossing near Auburn a machine in the road in front of them went across the track without hesitation, and thinking the way clear they continued toward the rails.

At that moment a fast train bore down upon them and then struck and hurled them aside.

Mr. Green's chest was badly crushed, and he was taken to the Auburn City Hspital.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Green, received word of the accident and immediately went to visit their son, whose condition is now improved to such an extent that they returned home on Monday night.

Says "If I Don't Break My Leg." Then Does

Asked on Monday by Postmaster E. W. Workley, if he would serve as a pall bearer at his son, Craig Workley's funeral, Thomas Hazlewood stated that he would if he did not fall down and break his leg or something. Several hours later "Tom" had his right leg snapped in two just above the ankle while pulling a piece of the local fire apparatus to the small blaze at Charles Provin's house.

The youth tried to steer clear of the apparatus, which was traveling at a fast pace, but one wheel caught his leg in front of Quirk's garage. The fire did not do much damage but its proximity to the gasoline tank in front of the house which is in such distavor among downtown residents did not tend to make the aforesaid tank any more popular.

PURTLE-CARESON.

Miss Marie Purtle, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Purtle of this place and Carl Carlson of Wilcox, Pa., were united in marriage, Wednesday morning at 9:15 o'clock at the Catholic parsonage by Rev. P. J. Donohue. Their attendants were Captain L. P. Bailey of this place, and Mrs. Allman, a cousin of the bride, from Olean.

Miss Purtle is one of Smethport's most popular girls. She was a graduate from Smethport high school, and also from Mechanics' Institute, Rochester. Her sweet disposition and charming manner won her friends everywhere.

Mr. Carlson is a civil engineer in the State Highway department and has been employed here several years. He is a young man of ability and has many friends here.

The happy couple left immediately following the ceremony on an extended trip to Philadelphia and New York. They will be at home after December first at the residence owned by Mrs. Mary Bissett on East Main street.

The Miner joins in congratulations.

BROWN-CAREY.

Mrs. Bernice B. Brown, of Bakersfield Cal., was married to Chas. J. Carey, of Eldred, by Rev. W. E. Van Dyke, at St. Luke's parish house on Tuesday.

The couple were in town but a short time, leaving for Eldred immediately after the ceremony.

Electricity Strikes A Snag!

Electricity for Smethport must wait a while.

Because of a technicality of State law, the one big municipal move which was voted favorably upon by the voters, was heartily co-operated with by citizens who backed it with ample funds to put it through, and had the good will apparently of everyone, has received its first set-back, or, we hope only a postponement.

At one of the most interesting sessions of the Borough Council in a long while at which nearly forty prominent business and professional men of the town were present along with a full council and the mayor, it was discovered that in the laws of Pennsylvania there is a clause which states that no borough or city may incur a debt upon itself to the extent of more than seven per cent. (7).

The arrangement by which the Electric Light and Power Company, of which J. Clayton Backus was the organizer, was to bring current here would force this borough into a debt far in excess of the amount allowed by the State law, it is said. The proposal was that the power company invest $25,000 and receive from the borough another $25,000 for option to buy the entire electric proposition inside of 21 years.

The borough would therefore be obligated to pay six per cent on the company's money for each year, and the total obligation upon the borough for 21 years would exceed the seven per cent of indebtedness allowed by the State law.

Lengthy debates were held on the floor of the council and after many attempts to override the technicality

LOCAL YOUTH HEARS PRESIDENT'S SPEECH BY WIRELESS

Surprising even his fondest expectations and stealing a march on the other wireless "fans" of town, Howard Strong by a clever piece of ingenuity attached a self made piece of apparatus to his wireless outfit and on November 11 heard the entire speech of President Harding over the body of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington cemetery, Washington.

Strong, who has shown a somewhat exceptional aptitude for wireless was the only one local person with an outfit to get the sound of the President's voice.

He even heard the applause at the close of the speech, and also heard the vast crowd singing the Star Spangled Banner afterward.

Mrs. Strong, his mother was the only other person who was present, and both were enabled to hear the sounds at any point in the room, so clear was the sound.

Strong is now showing other wireless owners how to obtain this distinctness and each evening hears the concerts of the Chicago Grand Opera Company.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Home at last from France, an unknown American soldier was laid to rest today with all the homage a grateful people could pay.

For him a people stood a pause a little apart, the rush and tumult of a nation's hurrying life stilled in reverence.

For him a President gladly trudged afoot through the street, chief mourner to tell a people's proud sorrow for the dead.

For him admirals and generals and judges and statesman flung off the weight of dignities and years to walk humbly with lesser folks and do him honor.

In Arlington cemetery where the unknown soldier now rests among the great of the Nation's dead President Harding concluding his speech in honor of the deceased's deeds which were typical of each man who served in the World War, said.

"Standing today on hallowed ground, conscious that all America halted to share in the tribute of heart and mind and soul to this fellow American, and knowing that the world is noting this expression of the republic's mindfulness, it is fitting to say that his sacrifice, and that of the millions dead, shall not be in vain. There must be, there shall be The commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare.

CRAIG WORKLEY AT REST; MRS. BACKUS AND MRS. GORTON DIE

Clinging to earth by a single strand of desire to once more rest in his mother's arms, the world-weary spirit of Craig Workley, 20-year-old son of Postmaster and Mrs. E. W. Workley, was wafted peacefully onward last Saturday evening after the fulfillment of his desire by reaching home from Albuquerque, New Mexico, the day before.

Closely following the news of this splendid young man's death, the community was shocked to learn also of the passing away of Mrs. Flora Backus, mother of Harry L. Backus, owner of the Miner, and of Mrs. Lucy C. Gorton, formerly a prominent resident of Smethport and later of San Diago, Cal., where her death occurred.

The death of both these estimable ladies was caused by sudden attacks of heart failure. Mrs. Backus had been ailing for about two weeks and was apparently improving when a severe attack just before midnight on Tuesday carried her off.

Mrs. Gorton was stricken also when alone in her home, and after being taken to a hospital she expired. The body was taken to an undertaking parlor, and after two days was found and identified by relatives.

Craig Workley and his father arrived in Smethport on Friday after a tiring journey across the continent during which the parent was skeptical each moment of getting his son home alive, and during which the youth's mother held back her fears and hoped against hope that she might once more see her son in life.

Dr. Robert Hamilton met the father and son in Buffalo, and made the trip to this place with them, alleviating in as much as possible the son's suffering and weakness.

The entire town hourly asked for news of the boy's condition after he was again under his home roof, and deep sympathy was felt for him and his family by everyone.

On Saturday afternoon at 4:30 death came.

The valiant fight which Craig had made even up to the moment of death against tuberculosis was a losing one in spite of his strong determination of will to throw it off. His ill health began in 1920, when he was stricken with scores of others by influenza. He fought against the ravages of that fearful disease, but it left him with weakened lungs and sapped strength. That was in February, 1920.

Later in the year, in October, he was taken to the Bradford Hospital, and an operation was performed. This also further weakened him and he became worse and worse.

In June of this year, he was taken to Albuquerque, and became a patient at St. Joseph's Sanitarium. Under the patient attention of the sisters and its peaceful surroundings at first he felt better, but his health was so undermined that his attendants saw that he was failing further.

It was a few weeks ago that he told his physician that he felt fine, but wanted to know his exact condition. They could not tell him that he would get well, and then he wanted to come home.

The young man's consideration of others, his squareness, his devotion to his parents and brothers and sisters and a keen intellect were strong marks of his character.

He was born in Cuylersville, N. Y., on December 12, 1901. He was a graduate of Smethport High School with the class of 1919.

The following fall he entered State College, coming home in February, suffering from influenza. In September 1920 he went to the University of Pittsburgh. In October he came home for an operation for appendicitis.

The funeral of the deceased took place on Tuesday at the Methodist church, with Rev. Arthur Gresson presiding. The church was crowded with relatives and friends and former school mates of the young man. Mr. Gresson paid a splendid tribute to the deceased, dwelling on the exceptional points of character that had typified him.

The pallbearers were: John Malcolm, Francis Hussy, Holmes Spangle, Lester Taylor, Hjalmer Axelson and Robert Hamilton.

Burial was made in Rose Hill cemetery.

Besides the parents, two sisters, Catherine, at home, and Margaret, a student of Genessee Normal School and one brother, Howard Workley, now employed at Galeton, survive. The flower Girls were: Helen Bouton, Harriet Jones, Marie Sasse Bermendey, Hester Kerr, Halpenny, Vera Jones, Dorothy Hogarth.

"Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Lead Kindly Light," beautifully rendered by a quartette composed of Mrs. E. E. Bouton, Mrs. H. H. Redfield, E. E. Bouton and Jack Morrison.

Out of town relatives were: Mrs. Lloyd McIntyre, of York N. Y., Mrs. Frank McQuinn, Georgeville, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McVean, Kane, Pa. Chas J. Workley, Cuylersville, N. Y., Fred Trimble, York, N. Y., Eugene Trimble, York N. Y.

Mrs. Backus was first stricken with a severe sinking spell, Saturday, October 29. She rallied from that attack, although she had since been confined to her bed, and was apparently convalescing in a satisfactory manner, up to shortly after 10:00 o'clock Tuesday evening at which time she suffered a second heart attack, and although Dr. Hamilton was summoned, nothing could be done to relieve her condition, and the end came

THE BAT AT THE BRADFORD THEATER.

"The Bat" by Mary Rhinehart and Avery Hopwood, the most successful dramatic play by all odds produced in the past generation, will be presented at the Bradford theatre on November 18 and 19 by Wagenhals and Kemper. Those who are at all interested in the affairs of the theatre are familiar with the remarkable record made by "The Bat."

For one entire year, "The Bat" has played to capacity audiences in New York. And it is still at it. For the same period of time lacking only a few weeks, another company presented "The Bat" in Chicago where it broke every existing record for the length of a run and smashed all box office record for receipts. It is absolutely in a class by itself in point of popularity.

"The Bat" comes here backed by its remarkable record for popularity and the enormous success that has greeted it every place it has been seen. The production is exactly the same as that being used by the New York and Chicago companies and the cast is a particularly strong one.

BIGGEST OF FILM SPECTACLES COMING.

The engagement of D. W. Griffith's wonder spectacle "Way Down East" opens at the Bradford Theater on November 23 for a run of four days.

Basically "Way Down East" is a picturization of that delightful story of New England rural life which Lottie Blair Parker and Joseph R. Grismer made so familiar upon the American stage covering a period of more than a decade. By Griffith's treatment it becomes a new art, vibrant with a life that is all too fastly passing from view and infused with realism and tenseness, plus the finest mingling of pastoral scenes ever conceived for an American drama. Music adds its charm to this swelling appeal and the combination spells a new form of excessing to every sense that seeks the playhouse for entertainment and illustration.

It is deemed essential to advise the readers of this paper that "Way Down East" is going to pack the theatre from the opening presentation and it will be prudent for you to make your reservations well in advance and before the word of its singular power and charm puts seats in the greatest demand.

J. D. BUTZER, SMETHPORT BUSY AT BUCKNELL

Lewisburg, Pa., Nov. 11—J. D. Butzer, of Smethport, and a member of the Sophomore Class at Bucknell University, has a unique way of making pocket money. Butzer makes all sorts of ash trays, tobacco humidors, pen and pencil trays, and so on by the use of crepe paper. A small glass jar or vase is used as the base. The crepe paper is rolled and then woven just as the old-fashioned rofia used to be used. The result is a neat article of practical use, and Butzer is having no trouble in disposing of all that he has spare time to make.

SAFE CRACKERS BUSY AT JAMESTOWN THEATRE.

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 11.—An attempt by two cracksmen to break the safe in the Winter Garden theater here ended early this morning in what was perhaps the city's most sensational police outlaw battle.

One policeman and two alleged safe crackers are in the Jamestown General hospital. Albert Hurlburt, secretary of the police department, has a bullet wound just above the right eye. His condition is serious, but it is believed he will live if unexpected complications do not develop. The other officer, Chief Chase and John D. Crowley, one of the two alleged outlaws who were shot, are in the hospital. Five bullets lodged in Crowley's body have so weakened him that it is believed several of the wounds has a gunshot wound in the back. He will live.

Kelly, who for the past five years has been the owner of the Coudersport Ice Co., long known as one of the most peculiar attractions of the Pennsylvania mountains, has this week sold his interests to William A. Sherry, postmaster at Coudersport, who takes possession for delivery on the 1st of January.

Mr. Kelly purchased the Ice Mine property about five years ago for [illegible] at that time, but due to his indefatigable advertising ability and push, Mr. Kelly has made it known throughout the United States and each year the income from this project has steadily increased until the four months' income from the mine has run better than $5,000 per season in paid admissions. The ice mine is one of the best money making propositions in Northern Pennsylvania and Mr. Sherry is indeed fortunate in acquiring it.

LABARER MAN ATTACKED AND ROBBED NEAR OLEAN.

Olean, Nov. 10.—After he was attacked, robbed and thrown from an automobile near Bullis Mills, Pa., Southeast of here, last night, Charles Chase, owner of the Larabee Pa. Kennels, was unconscious in a ditch until this morning when he was found by a Pennsylvania railroad trainman after a freight train stopped at the place.

Three men, who were taking him into the rural section to show him rabbit dogs, suddenly struck him on the head, took $80 from him and hurled him into the ditch where he struck on his face. Chase was brought to Olean where he told the police the story and gave good descriptions of the robbers. Officers have started searching for them.

PROMINENT BRADFORD OIL MAN DIES AT HOME.

Bradford, Nov 11.—Arthur McGregor, pioneer oil man, and for many years one of Bradford's most prominent citizens, died at 9:10 o'clock last evening at his home No. 17 Congress street.

When Mr. McGregor arrived in Bradford the local oil field was just beginning to be developed and he was an active member of the group of pioneers that made this city a metropolis of oil. For 44 years he was recognized as one of the leaders among local oil men.

Mr. McGregor is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth McGregor of this city; one son, Harry McGregor of Johnsonburg; two daughters, Mrs. John Shehan of Johnsonburg, and Miss Sarah Elizabeth McGregor of Bradford; one brother, Patrick McGregor of New Castle-on-Tyne, England; three nephews, Hugh Grant of Bradford, who was his business partner for many years; Peter Grant of Bradford and Arthur Grant of Grants, California.

Mrs. McGregor was a member of St. Bernard's church, the Knights of Columbus and the Elks. For a number of years he was active in the affairs of the Democratic party, and served several terms as state committee man of that party.

The funeral will be held Monday morning, with a service at the home at 8:30 o'clock, and high requiem mass in St. Bernard's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will take place in St. Bernard's cemetery.

Highways and Byways

The first improved highway in America is said to have been built in this state in 1794 at Downingtown, thirty miles west of Philadelphia. It was the beginning of the good roads movement that has spread from coast to coast.

Good roads are essential to the prosperity and progress of this community. Ribbons of hard surfaced highways must tie it to the great outside world.

In the same manner the men and women of the Bell System—many of them your neighbors—are maintaining "talkways" not alone to the homes and business houses in this community but also to every other community in the State.

Glistening bands of copper stretch from your door to every corner of the State making "talk travel" possible, without regard to season, weather, or road conditions.

AMNESTY FOR IRISH.

One of the most significant things in the present chapter of British-Irish relations is the reported release of the Sinn Fein prisoners at Ballykinlar, near Belfast. There have been nearly 2,000 of the Sinn Feiners interned there. Nearly all of them had been active in guerilla warfare against the British authorities. Apparently they have all been set free unconditionally.

This action is doubtless connected with proceedings at the Irish conference in London. Whether taken by the British government in direct compliance with a demand of the Sinn Fein or its own initiative, the move is sure to have a wholesome effect on the negotiations and on public opinion in South Ireland. It looks like a signal evidence of good faith.—Ogden Herald.

ALL NATIONS AGREE TO NAVAL HOLIDAY.

Replacements would be limited by an agreed maximum of capital ship tonnage as follows:

United States, 500,000 tons; Great Britain, 500,000 tons; Japan, 300,000 tons.

Subject to the ten-year holiday limitation, capital ships could be replaced when they are twenty years old. No replacement ship would have a tonnage of more than 35,000.

A total tonnage in cruisers, flotilla leaders and destroyers for each Power would be fixed as follows:

For the United States, 450,000 tons; for Great Britain, 450,000 tons; for Japan, 270,000 tons.

The total tonnage of submarines allowed each Power would be as follows: for the United States, 90,000 tons; for Great Britain, 90,000 tons; for Japan, 54,000 tons.

The total tonnage of airplane carriers was proposed as follows: for the United States, 80,000 tons; for Great Britain, 80,000 tons; for Japan, 48,000 tons.

In each case it would be provided that no Government whose present tonnage exceeds the proposed limit will be required to scrap such excess until replacements have begun.

Cruisers seventeen years old would be replaced by new construction.

Similarly, destroyers, flotilla leaders and submarines could be replaced when twelve years old, and airplane carriers when twenty years old.

Limitation of airplane construction was not outlined in detail in the American proposal but it was declared in the proposal that since the importance of the merchant marine is a factor in any naval armament program, "regulations must be provided" to govern the conversion of merchant craft for war purposes.

Other features of the auxiliary craft reduction program included: Exemption from the terms of the agreement of existing monitors, unarmored surface craft under 3,000 tons, fuel ships, supply ships, tenders, repair ships, tugs, and mine-sweepers.

No new auxiliary combatant craft could be built, exempt from terms of the agreement, that exceeded 3000 tons, had a speed of more than fifteen knots and carried more than four five-inch guns.

All auxiliary surface craft whose keels already have been laid could be carried to completion. Agreement would be made later for details of scrapping the ships falling outside the proposed limitation.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH AT OPENING OF CONFERENCE.

"Mr. Secretary and members of the conference, ladies and gentlemen:

"It is a great and happy privilege to bid the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the capitol of the United States of America. It is not only a satisfaction to greet you because we were lately participants in a common cause, in which we shared sacrifice and sorrows and triumphs brought our nations more closely together, but is gratifying to address you as the spokesmen for nations whose convictions and attending actions have so much to do with the weal or woe of all mankind.

"Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States of America alone, it is rather the spoken words of a war-wearied world, struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationship; of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace.

"Out of the cataclysm of the world war came new fellowships, new convictions, new aspirations. It is ours to make the most of them. A world staggering with debts needs its burden lifted. Humanity which has been shocked by wanton destruction, would minimize the agencies of that destruction. Contemplating the measureless cost of the war and continuing burden of armament, all thoughtful peoples wish for real limitation of armament and would like war outlawed. In soberest reflection the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and die in war wish their statesmen to turn the expenditures for destruction into means of construction, aimed at a higher state for those who live and follow after.

"Gentlemen of the conference, The United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears, we have no sordid ends to serve; we expect no enemy; we contemplate or apprehend no conquest. Content with what we have, we seek nothing which is another's. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone.

"We wish to sit with you at the table of international undertaking and good will. In good conscience we are eager to meet you frankly, and invite and offer co-operation. The world demands cure of the existing order and realization that there can be no cure without sacrifice, nor by one of us but by all of us.

"I do not mean surrendered rights or narrowed freedom; or denied aspirations, or ignored national necessities. Our republic would no more ask for these than it would give. No pride need be humbled, no nationality submerged but I would have a emergence of mind committing all of us to less preparation for war and more enjoyment of fortunate peace.

"I can speak officially only for the United States. One hundred million frankly want less armament and none of war, wholly free from guile sure in our own minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we accredit the world with the same good intent. So, I welcome you, not alone in good will and high faith.

"We are met for a service to mankind. In all simplicity, in all honesty and all honor, there may be written here the avowals of a world conscience refined by the consuming fires of war and made more sensitive by the anxious aftermath. I hope for that understanding which will emphasize the guarantees of peace, and for commitments to less burdens and a better order which will transquilize the world. In such an accomplishment there will be glory to your fame and ours, and the rejoicing of mankind will make the transcending music of all succeeding time."

LOU TELLEGEN COMING TO BRADFORD THEATER.

The big revival of "Blind Youth" the recent New York, Boston and Chicago success in which the brilliant actor-manager-author, Lou Tellegen presents himself (in person) and his own company at the Bradford Theatre on Monday, November 21st for an engagement of one performance bids fair to be the real triumph of the current season, if the advance reports are true, for it is said the star has surrounded himself with the same big cast of players that will appear with him in the production of his new play which is scheduled for metropolitan run next spring.

It is a comedy drama in three acts by Mr. Tellegen in collaboration with Willard Mack, founded upon an incident which happened to a fellow student of the star's when the latter was a pupil of the celebrated Rodin of Paris, though whom, his admission to conservatoire was secured, which was the stepping stone to his engagement with Mme Bernhardt.

It tells a story of the young man's inability to distinguish false from genuine love, being guided by impulse rather than reason; his trials and tribulations are many, but his regeneration completed, brings great and lasting happiness. The play is not dark or gloomy; it is, on the contrary life-like, in that it has its joyous movements as well as those of pain, the impulse of the story being to the joy of life.

In the cast are the following well known people: Helen Gray, Isabel Alden, Dorothy Beardsley, Georgia Prentice, Estelle Floyd, Louis Darclay, Russell Davis, Hugh Banks and Jack Daly. Mr. Tellegen has also given the play an entire new dress this season, the production being identical with that which characterized the long runs of the piece.

The sale of seats will open at the box office on Saturday, November 19th, at 10 a. m. Mail orders now received.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT AND INTERESTING PLAY.

To be given by the "Keystone Quartette," Mildred Mayo, Margaret Golphin, Thomas Filer and William Willet, alumni of the Western Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind at the Baptist Church, Smethport, Pa., Wednesday, November 30, at eight, p. m.

The "Keystone Quartett need not be introduced to the people of Smethport as they have visited this vicinity for the past two years, and their entertainment was so thoroly enjoyed by all that we are glad to welcome them again.

Their entertainment will differ somewhat this year as they will produce the famous drama "In Honor Bound."

Popular and classic piano numbers and readings full of laughter and mirth will also be rendered by the quartet.

Admission for all only 25 cents. Adv.21.

NATIONAL CONOPUS OFFICER SPEARS AT LOCAL MEETING

Mr. Ray Van Benschoten, of Syracuse, was the speaker at the luncheon of the Conopus Club on Monday, and was highly interesting in his account of the recent election of a Democratic mayor in that city after years of boss rule.

He described the important part the Conopus Club of his city played in helping to defeat the organization and showed that party lines were lost sight of in the endeavor to defeat a common evil.

The speaker then pointed out the lesson he wished to convey by his account by saying that club strength should be encouraged and that the members take an active part in all important affairs to make their influence felt.

The talk was mostly along Conopus lines.

A resolution favoring electricity for Smethport, after "thorough investigation" was passed at the meeting.

HAS MADE NEW PROFESSION

Philadelphia Woman Makes Excellent Living Arranging Details for Amateur Entertainments.

A pin-money career, for one Philadelphia woman, was the outcome of her refusal to drill some children for an Easter program. On previous occasions she had "thrust upon her" the responsibility of planning and preparing various kinds of entertainments, home-talent plays, cantatas, etc., for different organizations. As this work required much time and strength, she was offered remuneration for her services and accepted the money. Now she has work ahead in that line all the year round. She assumes the responsibility of miscellaneous programs, plays, etc., for all ages, for Sunday schools, lodges, clubs, etc. She arranges time and place of practice, and assigns parts to each one in drills, plays, dialogues, cantata, solo, duet, quartette, chorus, etc. Superintendents in the schools often call on her to help in such lines, and various organizations of the city. Much of the work, as the practicing, is done in her own home. She receives from 20 to 40 cents an hour. Free-will offerings from a church organization have also been generous, as the minister of inviting her.

Wearing Out Clubs.

He had taken up golf, and after playing a week he went to buy some new clubs.

"Did you break the ones I told you about a week ago?" asked the club dealer.

"No, I didn't break any of 'em," was the reply, "but I took so many shots with 'em that they're worn out."—Yonkers Statesman.

High School Notes

It looks as though Bradford was our meat this year, seeing that we have won two games from them. We certainly were disappointed in not killing portville last Friday, but they promised to be here Saturday. Let's have a big crowd there for what will probably be the last football game this year.

There is going to be both a girl's and a boy's basketball team this year Practice will start sometime in the near future.

Another edition of "Passing Breezes," our high school "black board paper" appeared last week. At least it was better than the first edition. What was the reason for so long a wait between issues? Did the comment in these notes scare you out?

Monday Prof. Bright came to school with such a cold that he could hardly talk. Of coures we realize that a cold is a disagreeable thing but we can't help wishing sometimes that our teachers would have one, as it would certainly make it easier for us sometimes when we don't have our lessons.

SMETHPORT HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS BRADFORD TEAM.

Tearing through the opposition's line like demons, Smethport High School made repeated touchdowns against a team from Bradford High school, on Armistice Day and won by a score of 25-to 0.

The locals had expected Portville as their opponents and were on fighting trim. On account of the bad weather Portville could not get here and Bradford was elected the victims of Thursday.

Portville will play this Saturday here, and if the locals play the kind of football they did last week, Portville will wish it had stayed home again.

MRS HOLMES OPERATED ON.

Mrs. F. L. Holmes was operated on at the Olean Hospital on Tuesday morning, by Dr. Tisdolph. Although she spent a restless night following the operation, her condition is said to be improving.

McKEAN COUNTY FARM BUREAU NOTES.

Due to the $35,000 fire at State College, the Penn State Farmer has asked all subscribers to their paper send their names and address to this publication at State College. All records were destroyed in the fire therefore all lists of subscribers must be made up in the above mentioned way.

The McKean County Sheep and Wool Growers' Association which was chartered by the State in June 1920 has done a great deal not only for the farmers but for the consuming public. In 1920 when it was almost impossible to sell wool, the wool of the sheep men of the County was sold at a good advantage, running from two to five cents, even as high as six cents per pound more than was paid to individuals. The same year lambs were pooled and sold at from two to four cents per pound or from one-fourth to one-half more than what was being paid locally.

In 1921 the three grades of wool most common in the county were sold for 22/24 and 28 cents, respectively. While those who sold individually received about 17 cents. The lambs that were pooled the same year brought to the farmer from 1½ to 2½ cents per pound more than was being offered by the usual buyers.

The consuming public were mostly benefited by this incorporated body in that they were able to purchase from the association auto robes, horse blankets and horse blankets, which they had manufactured from their off grade wools. These products are not only all wool, but all virgin wool which had been worn only on the sheep's back. The price paid by the consuming public for such quality was but half the marketing price for the same products stated to be all wool to say nothing of how many times it had been worn previously. The association hopes to be able to continue serving the public as well as its own members.

The Hold-Up Game
You have no chance to win when you meet the hold-up man. If you stick up your hands as directed, your cash goes right then. If you resist you may be injured, possibly killed, and your money goes just the same.
Hold-ups are of common occurance. If you carry your money around on your person you are taking big chances. There is one way to beat the hold-up man: Deposit your money in this bank and pay your bills by check. It is the safe, convenient, modern way and leaves nothing for the highwayman to gobble up.

THREE MEN
ONE— goes around incurring small debts here and there. Doesn't know how he will meet them; only knows they mount up alarmingly fast.
ANOTHER— doesn't owe anybody anything yet, but he's running on a dangerously narrow margin, and wearing himself out trying to keep up with the game.
ANOTHER— saves a little each week from his earnings and puts it in the bank. He's finding a lot that's worth while in life.
These represent three characteristic types. Do you find yourself among them?

LEGION MAN HOLDS RECORD

Former Lumber Jack Who Put College Professors to Flight in Intelligence Test.

Positions as instructor in philosophy, entomology and English have been offered by several large universities of the west to Michael J. Nolan, Seattle Wash., before the war a lumberjack, during it a sapper in the Royal Engineers and after it a patient in army hospitals for 49 weary weeks.

Shortly after American opened hostilities with Germany Nolan, 38 years old, tried to enlist. He was refused enlistment because of his age, but he went to Canada and took on with the Dominion forces. Following severe service in France, he was invalided to a hospital at Folkestone, England, where he suffered from shellshock, influenza and jaundice all at the same time. He was held there for almost a year.

When he reached Seattle in 1919 he was so weak that he could not lift his hand to shave himself. He entered the University of Washington for vocational education in December 1919.

Nolan's remarkable accomplishments in collegiate intelligence tests have been announced to the country. Competing with four professors, he answered without error 60 questions in 60 seconds while the brightest of the professors answered but 54 in 60 minutes. Due to his ability, Nolan is finishing a four-year complete course in 18 months.

The lieutenant, giant, below the average physically, is a native of Wexford, Ireland. He is a member of Rainier-Noble post, the American Legion, in Seattle.

SEVERAL JOBS AS CHAPLAIN

Toledo (O.) Divine Is Much in Demand With Veterans' and Other Organizations.

Chaplain for six different organizations—Rev. H. F. MacLane, Toledo, O., is a dangerous contender for the Champion "side job" belt.

Every time another organization elects him chaplain, he says he feels like Bob Fitzsimmons, the former world's heavyweight, who, after receiving a telegram announcing the birth of a son, cried: "Hooray, I'm another father!"

Chaplain MacLane was wounded while "sky pilooting" the Thirty-seventh division in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. Returning to Toledo after the war he joined the Harry E. Kern post of the American Legion and they at once elected him chaplain. He also is chaplain of the Lucas County (Ohio) council of the Legion and of the following other organizations: Soldiers' class of the Toledo Scottish Rite; Thirty-seventh Division Veterans association; Second regiment, Ohio National Guard, and Toledo chapter, Disabled Veterans of the World War.

SHE'S DRY LAND SAILOR ACE

Michigan Girl Prize Winner in Canoe Carnival Served as Yeoman F, First Class.

The statement that the war-time Yeoman (F) could not tell the difference between a schooner and a scow loses its sting when one considers Miss Ethelyn Meter, a so-called dry-lander (a Wac), who won a prize in the recent canoe carnival at Belle Isle, Detroit, Mich.

Miss Meter of Benton Harbor [illegible] F, first class in the [illegible] of navigation at Washington, where she knew all about sail water craft, at least from the pictures and records. It may have been there that she learned the fine points of driving the rocky skiffs through the water fast enough to shame the best of the gobs who competed against her in the water carnival.

"I believe that a girl can paddle her own canoe, too, literally and figuratively," Miss Meter says. "She was one of the organizers of the Benton Harbor post of the American Legion and in the race the Legion colors flew from her winning craft.

To Honor General Ward.

Americans in China will make pilgrimages to the grave of Gen. Frederick Ward, the American, on Memorial day hereafter, the custom being instituted this year by the American Legion post of Shanghai. While the Civil war was being fought in America, General Ward, under commission of the Chinese government, organized what afterwards was known to the Chinese as the "Ever Victorious Army" and suppressed the great Taiping rebellion. While directing his attack on the town of Tsz Ki, the American, formerly an officer on a Chinese gunboat, was killed at the head of his troops. The Chinese erected a monument to him at Sungkiang, where he fell.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS OVER BODY OF UNKNOWN SOLDIER

As we return this poor clay to its mother soil, garlanded by love and covered with the decorations that only nation can bestow, I can sense the prayers of our people, of all peoples, that this Armistice day shall mark the beginning of a new and lasting era of peace on earth, good will among men. Let me join in that prayer.

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen.

After his address President Harding pinned on the top of the casket the two most valued decorations in America—the Medal of Honor, bestowed by act of Congress, and the the Distinguished Service Cross, given by order of the Commander in Chief, who placed it in place. From their places in the marble boxes about the amphitheater the great foreign leaders rose to pay similar honors, Marshal Foch, General Diaz, General Jacquin, Admiral Beatty, so that the roll of highest honors in the brave might be complete.

There was more music then, as it filled with the solemn uplift from which religious men and women have drawn comfort in all the ages, and singers whose voices have made them known over the world over to add their share to the tribute. Then rang the solemn words of the Twenty Third Psalm and the scripture lesson; then the bodybearers stepped forward to lift the casket aloft and carry it out to the sarcophagus on the amphitheater terrace with a vista of river and hill and stately city stretching away below.

A last touch of the spirit of France awaited the dead hero, on the floor of the Memorial Amphitheater, which he will sleep forever soil of France had been spread, earth from the country where his death battle was fought out on a stretch of land that it might remain free soil. It was brought with the consent from France and forever the nameless one of America who died for France and for America will rest on French soil, here in his own home earth.

A prayer and the burial service marked the last rites as the casket was placed, then the triple salvo of guns burst out and before the echo of the last blast died, the thin pure call of the bugle sounded "taps," the soldiers' requiem and "good night." As the last long tone died away again the guns sounded, this time in the quick, throbbing pound of the national salute of twenty-one guns, officers of all service standing at salute and troops at present as the cannon roared their last tribute.

More than 3000 mothers throughout the country were saying: "It may be my boy." War records show that 3,893 American soldiers of the World war still are reported as missing. The unknown soldier buried on Armistice day is one of this number.

peacefully at the time above mentioned.

Flora A. Hamlin was born in Smethport, October 22nd, 1852, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hamlin, pioneer residents of this place. The father, Asa Darwin Hamlin, was a civil engineer, prominent throughout this section of the United States. Early in life she was united in marriage to Frank Ward Backus and her entire life was spent in Smethport. The fruits of this union were two children, Harry L. and Marion, the latter deceased. Mr. Backus died in 1913.

The news of Mrs. Backus' death not only came as a deep shock to the community but her passing will be sincerely mourned by all citizens. Her's was a life dedicated to service. Not only her immediate family felt the benefits of her nobility of soul and generosity of nature, but her benefactions were extended to her friends who were legion. Her's was a spirit gay, happy and as helpful as the warm breeze of spring. Her calls, which were many, were cherished deeply in the chamber of her good heart. No call of the needy ever fell unheeded with her, and never was she more happy than when rendering succor to others or doing service to others. A noble, devoted mother and a true friend, her final Earthly call to sleep is the culmination of a life of love and service.

Surviving besides her husband, Harry L. Backus, lawyer and publisher of the McKean County Miner, are three grandchildren Clarissa, Harry and William Backus, and two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Badger of Smethport and Mrs. Carrie Townsend of Lancaster Ohio, who was summoned to Smethport last week by her sister's illness.

Funeral services will be held at the home Friday at 2:00 p. m., Rev. W. P. VanDyke, rector of St. John's church, officiating. Interment will be in the family plot in Rose Hill cemetery.

MRS. LUCY CORINNE GORTON DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Stricken by an attack of heart failure in her bungalow in San Diego, California on Armistice Day afternoon, Mrs. Lucy Corinne Gorton, formerly a local resident and most widely known in this section, died almost instantly.

Word received here by the two sisters of the deceased, Mrs. D. M. Brasted and Mrs. Nina Ramsey, of this place, indicates that after Mrs. Gorton died in a hospital her body was taken to an undertaker's parlor in the city, and was there until Sunday before it was identified by relatives.

Mrs. Gorton was 63 years old having been born on April 1, 1859, in Smethport, where she lived her entire life until one year ago she went to San Diego.

She was a member of the Smethport Travelers Club, the local Daughters of the American Revolution, and was a member of the Episcopal church.

Mrs. Gorton was active in all public affairs, and was intensely devoted to her family and home. Her departure from Smethport was a source of deep regret to her many friends, who were shocked to learn of her sudden death.

The body will be brought to Smethport for burial and is to arrive on Monday at noon. Mr. and Mrs. Wright C. Smith will accompany the body here.

Funeral services were held in San Diego on Wednesday, November 16.

ELECTRICITY MUST WAIT

of law, it was finally voted that the organizer of the power company request his financial backers to put their money into the concern by allowing the borough a lower period or guaranteed interest so that the borough might keep within the seven per cent. of debt allowed.

This Mr. Backus is now doing and it is believed his backers will agree.

So as not to allow the issue to die forever but guaranteeing to do all in their power to bring current here as speedily as possible, the council passed the following resolution:

"Resolved that the Council of the Borough of Smethport pledges itself to provide electricity for this borough and its inhabitants, as expressed by the wishes of the voters at the recent election on the $33,000 bond issue, as soon as same can, after thorough investigation by Council be legally and satisfactorily done."

Mr. Backus at the outset of the meeting read a paper, which was an excellent resume of the entire work he had done since being appointed an agent to secure electricity for the town, and in a final plea for a favorable vote he said:

"The crucial moment is here right now—a decision, a momentous decision on a great, big question rests in the palms of seven men, whether the will of the majority shall be carried out, thereby bringing us into light and prosperity, or, the will of the minority forever casting us into darkness and industrial decay, but before casting your final vote please give due consideration to the following:

First: Per County's Electric Light Plant Sheets in the basement of the Court House is wholly inadequate and must be replaced soon as an up-to-date and expensive plant, unless the County Commissioners can be assured that within a reasonable time they can buy their electricity from outside sources, to which they stand ready to advance the big sum of $45,000.00. Also please note that the County will be a big consumer and without it it would be hard to make a local plant pay. This is a favorable condition that probably never again will appear.

Second: Without the County's money and patronage it would be impossible to secure loans sufficient to equip Smethport with electricity.

Third: It will be a long, long while before electrical supplies and material will again be as cheap as they are today and I am told are now so many idle workmen that you can obtain labor at your own price.

Fourth: The voters by a majority Para exceed full responsibility for the entire proposition.

Fifth: That the Borough will be bound to its limit, therefore bears no greater risk than its limit.

Sixth: That having electricity the town will help us to get the McKean County $100,000.00 Community House located here and it will be a big user of electricity.

All of the foregoing favorable conditions make an opportunity that comes to a community only once in a century, therefore remember that no price is too great to pay for prosperity, whereas over conservative dollars are no good dollars and might as well not be.

Gentlemen of the Council in conclusion I want you to mark these words and mark them well. That if under all the present favorable conditions you refuse to obey the will of the big majority, and turn down the one only chance Smethport will ever have for electricity and prosperity, then Gentlemen for the help is forced to stay here will rue the day you were elected and you will go down in history known only as the "Black Council."

On the other hand if you will take favorable action on the electrification of Smethport, they in the years to come when the wheels of industrial prosperity hum, all important streets paved, a beautiful inland park, a handsome $100,000.00 Community House and public playgrounds for the children, then all posterity who will be glad to stay here and have plenty to stay for, will bless you and say you were the one big Council that decided the one big question in the one big way.

Gentlemen, I thank you.

CUPIDS GETTING READY FOR SUCCESSFUL SEASON.

The Cupids Basketball team of Smethport played the Bradford Iroquois team last night at Bradford.

The local team had but little practice on the floor because of the many entertainments at the Lyceum during the past few weeks, while the Bradford club was in good trim.

Manager Neal Holder, of the Cupids wishes to make the following statement to the local young men:

"Inasmuch as the Cupids basketball team for the season is to be picked from town players, anyone who ever played, or thought he could is urged to report for practice on every available night."

McDermott, Engstrom, L. Hull, Kohn, Spangle, Curran, Nellis, and Josephson have already reported.

As football and baseball seasons are finished for the year, local sportsmen should look toward basketball as the coming entertainment, and should give the Cupids strong support, as the team has to do its own backing.

going to their studies all over the county and to competent teachers, I feel confident that these youngsters will be able men and women of the future, and that with the patriotism and love of the flag instilled into their minds, I am certain that America will be in perfectly safe hands."

The speaker's final tribute to the flag was most touching and inspiring, and lent a fitting concluding touch of beauty to his speech.

Dr. Hamilton suffered a slight lapse of memory by forgetting the speaker's last name and giving his first as "David." Judge Dowd, however, mentioned that back in his home town everyone called him "Tom."

The afternoon's entertainment program consisted of the following numbers:

Stars and Stripes Forever, by the Smethport Band.

Invocation by Rev. W. E. Van Dyke.

The Double Quartette, consisting of William Brownell, Dr. Ayris Livermore, Norman Shermindine, Jack Morrison, Paul Hallstrom, Albert Johnson, Donald Bogarth and Francis Guirl, with Mrs. E. E. Bonton, as soloist then sang Kipling's Recessional."

Song—America, by assembly.

Grieving—The American Legion by W. G. Potter.

Memories—Old Song of the A. E. F., by assembly.

Several tableaux consisting of the following.

"Rose of No-Man's Land," in which Mary McCabe and Lenox Taylor and Mrs. John Cather took part, the latter being the vocalist.

"Belgium Rose," with Lucille Marshall and Mrs. John Cather.

"Britannia," Eleanor McCarthy.

"Mother Machree," including Mrs. Fred McCoy, Nellie Herriman, pianist, and Hazel Mitchell, violinist.

Miss Dorothy Hogarth and Claire McCarthy were the participants in a specialty dance.

Another specialty, "The Flag of the Free," under the auspices of Mrs. Robert Hamilton, was the outstanding feature of the entertainments.

The role of the spirit of the flag was taken by Miss Charlotte Spangle; red herald, Leota Hovis; blue herald, Virginia Balsley; veterans of 1861, 1898, and 1914, H. M. Choate Hascal Horkenberry, and Lester Taylor, with Arthur McDermott as representative of the Navy. Miss Nettie Herriman was the accompanist.

All the numbers showed a finish and perfection that was complimentary to those who had supervised them, because but little rehersal had been done.

The Star Spangled Banner by the Assembly and the benediction by Rev. Arthur Gregson, completed the program.

A large number of persons attended afternoon excercises and the Lyceum was filled.

The banquet to the ex service men was held in the basement of the Methodist church, and from an appetizing viewpoint it was complete. An excellent menu was provided. Many of the participants were called on for impromptu speeches. Dr. W. A. Ostrander gave a report of the American Legion convention at Kansas City, and his audience was convulsed by his clever, witty remarks on the doings there. The most interesting incident which occurred to "Doc" might never have happened had he not possessed his well-known expansive front.

General Jacques, the eminent Belgium leader, who was shaking hands with the ex-soldiers, seemed not a little amused at "Doc's" front, and as he passed he shook the physician's hand and also the general stuck out his stomach to meet that of the local man, saying "Me big man, too."

The Ta-Ta-Po Chon Camp Fire Girls served the banquet.

The military ball was largely attended, and with good music and plenty of fun, the couples thoroughly enjoyed it from every angle.
